

An international forum Architectural Education: Regionalism under the Trends of Globalization (Call for Papers)

We are facing an era of globalization. New science & technology accelerate the development of economy, and thus enhance the identification of regional cultures among peoples. Architecture is thus the integrated result of sciences, technologies, manufacture means and regional cultures. Creation of architectural space depends on forward-looking education ideas as well as efficient education systems. In this way, architectural education today pronounces the human spacial environment tomorrow.

In order to promote architectural education and strengthen international communication & cooperation, an international forum on architectural education, sponsored by China Architectural Educational Advisory Committee, Department of architecture, Southeast University (SEU-ARCH), UIA and UNESCO, will be held from Dec.10-12, 2003 in Nanjing, China. New developments in architectural education will be discussed and reviewed. Professional architects, educators, scholars and students are welcomed to the forum.
